

IRS Contribution Limits

|                               |      | SINGLEPLAN | FAMILYPLAN |
|-------------------------------|------|----------------|----------------|
| Maximumcontribution limit | 2025 | $4,300        | $8,550        |
|                               | 2026 | $4,400        | $8,750        |

Don't Miss Out!

There is still time to max out your account for the earlier year. Contributions count up to the deadline. Ask before April 15, 2026!

How The Limit Is Set

Account holders may contribute up to the annual maximum set by the Internal Revenue Service. The limit depends on whether the account holder is enrolled in single coverage or in family coverage, and it is published again each calendar year. Contributions made after the end of a year but before the filing deadline may be applied to the earlier year.